

Hope Raceways to Open

Fast Growing Sport, Hobby Reaches Hope

The fastest growing sport and hobby in America has reached Hope. It is the hobby of model car racing which is sweeping the nation. A gigantic 100 foot model car race track has been installed in the building located next door to B&B Grocery on West Second Street and the new Hope Raceway is now open for business.

The Raceway will be open each weekday evening at 6 p.m. and remain open until 10:00 p.m. and will open at 10:00 a.m. Saturdays and remain open until 11 p.m. The track will be open Sundays from 2 'til 6 p.m.

Model Car Racing, according to newspaper editor Larry Wahlquist and pharmacist Bill Fort, both of Prescott, is the newest and fastest growing family hobby sport in the country. The owners state that the new sport is rapidly gaining the support of PTAs and other such organizations who are vitally interested in wholesome entertainment for young people.

Model car racing which is sweeping the country in popularity, is creative, challenging, stimulating and competitive. The model racing car is a scale model automobile powered by electric current. Each car is equipped with a small guide which rides in a narrow groove in the track and provides steering. Power passes through the hand operated controls which serve to both accelerate and brake the car. The model car will react exactly the same as its full-size counterpart. If it is driven too fast around curves it will spin-out and leave the track just like the real car would.

A person needs no special skill or experience to build a racing car. You can assemble a car from a kit in about one hour. Prices for complete kits including motors range from $5.00 to $15.00. For those who do not wish to build their own cars, the center will have cars which they will rent, but most model enthusiasts quickly find that the building and tuning of their own car is half the fun.

For those who enjoy the challenge of competition, a number of races will be held each week for both "experts" and beginners and many persons will be entering local, state and national competition.

Sept. 9 Is Deadline for Independents

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Persons who want to run in the Nov. 9 general election as an independent have until 4:30 p.m., Sept. 9 to get qualified, Secretary of State Kelly Bryant said Thursday.

Under law, a persons desiring to run as an independent must present petitions carrying the signatures of at least 15 percent of the electorate voting in the governor's race in the last general election, Bryant said. This means that those running for a statewide office will have to get the signatures of 15 percent of those who voted in the governor's race in each of the 75 counties, Bryant said. He said a person running for a district office would have to get the same percentage in each of the counties in his district.

An independent running for a county office needs signatures of 15 percent of the voters in his county only, Bryant said.

Astronauts Ready for Appollo Flight

by HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer
CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — "It was a great flight and we're looking forward to flying on the vehicle ourselves on Appollo 1."

Speaking in a joint statement were the astronauts who may be circling the globe next Christmas in a three-man Appollo moonship.

The three are Air Force Lt. Col. Virgil I. Grissom, who traveled into space in both the Mercury and Gemini programs; Air Force Lt. Col. Edward H. White II, America's first space walker, and Navy Lt. Roger B. Chaffee.

The trio watched Thursday as a mammoth Saturn 1 rocket blaze into the sky on the start of a flight that apparently passed a significant milestone in the U.S. Appollo man-to-the-moon program.

The rocket, the nation's most powerful, hurled an unmanned Appollo moonship over a blistering suborbital course that carried it three-quarters of the way around the world to a safe parachute landing in the Pacific Ocean.

The flight was intended to qualify the spacecraft and the Saturn 1 for launching Grissom, White and Chaffee into earth orbit in December to start an all-out drive to land astronauts on the moon in 1968.

Before they go into space, two more two-man Gemini flights, in September and October, will conclude that second-generation program.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration reported that preliminary evaluation of data indicated no problems with the Saturn 1 and only a few minor ones with the spacecraft.

Dr. George E. Mueller, NASA associate administrator for manned space flight, reported all objectives apparently were met on the flight but that a detailed analysis would not be available for about three weeks.

He said all information must be studied before committing the next Appollo flight to a manned mission. He expects a decision in October or November.

Meanwhile, the three astronauts will train with the expectation that they will be in orbit for up to 14 days in December.

Sources report NASA is aiming for a mid-December launching. On that schedule, Grissom, White and Chaffee would be in orbit on Christmas.

The spacecraft survived a searing dive Thursday back through the earth's atmosphere from a peak altitude of 706 miles. Its heat shield protected it from temperatures that ranged up to 2,700 degrees.

The spacecraft on launch weighed 28 tons, the heaviest ever sent into space by the United States, the 5 1/2-ton cabin section in which astronauts will ride separated before re-entry.

It rode three large parachutes to a splashdown southeast of Wake Island in the Pacific after a 93-minute slight of nearly 18,000 miles — about 200 miles short of the intended target.

Explosion Blasts Hopes for Titan 3

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A Titan 3 rocket exploded into boiling fireball high over the Atlantic Ocean today, ruining an Air Force attempt to hurl eight military communications satellites into orbit.

The Air Force reported there was no immediate indication what went wrong with the big booster. The explosion occurred after about 80 seconds of flight and sent fiery debris falling into the sea off the Florida coast.

The failure was the first for the Titan 3, largest rocket in the Air Force arsenal.

The rocket was to have strung the satellites like a necklace around the earth's equator at an altitude of about 21,000 miles.

The Defense Department had planned to use these and seven earlier satellites launched in June to form a global communications network to speed vital messages around the world, primarily between Washington and Saigon.

The rocket was 12 stories tall and valued at about $20 million. Each of the eight communications satellites had a price tag of about one million dollars.

Ministering to the Poor Has Its Problems

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Being a minister to the poor has its problems, but a less-publicized challenge to today's churches are the new wealthy.

An Episcopal minister in Charlotte knows personally of young couples "struggling to reach the top."

"But when they get there, they find they've only run into a new, often tremendously complex set of problems," he said.

"Trying to keep up with these people can be a real rat race," a Presbyterian minister said. "It's utterly impossible to decide one morning to have a meeting and that night expect even half the people to be there. Meetings must be planned weeks in advance."

A Methodist minister has begun making some of his "calls" at the golf courses in Charlotte.

"Sure I enjoy the game," he confessed. "But on the greens I can make contacts and establish relationships I couldn't make otherwise."

What are some of the challenges of a prosperous, successful congregation?

In first place are money and its temptations.

"Not only do the wealthy find that money provides many benefits," one minister said, "but it also makes them liable to many special temptations and to tremendous pressure from their fellow citizens to share the money, their abilities and free time."

Pastors also find that weekends bring "the great exodus from town — to lakes, the mountains of North Carolina or the beaches — anything to get away for a while to relax."

One minister believes leaving town "may be the only way such people can keep their sanity. If it's impossible for them to get away, they might try to escape through drinking."

Alcohol is another problem pastors of wealthy congregations must face.

"The wealthy are of course not the only ones who drink too much, but they don't have to worry about neglecting their families financially — they can just about drink all they want," a minister said.

The wealthy couple can get caught up in the drive to succeed and leave their children on the sidelines, causing other problems.

There are advantages to having a wealthy and well-educated congregation. Pastors have little trouble finding Sunday School teachers, choir members, group leaders and deacons.

"These people are as gracious and generous as any I've ever known," a minister said. "They are full of enthusiasm and help in as many tasks as they possibly have time for."

One minister who has traveled abroad extensively added that "nowhere else in the world is there the same sense of responsibility for the proper use of money as you find in America. Charlotte's well-to-do are no exception."

Told That U.S. Commitments Cut Danger

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON
WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk told Congress today that global defense commitments cut down, rather than increase, the danger of armed conflicts involving the United States.

"The United States does not conceive itself to be the world's policeman," Rusk added.

Rusk was lead-off witness as the Senate preparedness subcommittee opened a broad inquiry into, as Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., put it, "whether or not we may be overextended either now or in the future."

Noting that the country has formal agreements with more than 40 countries around the world to come to their aid militarily in event of aggression, Stennis called on Rusk for "a hard-headed and realistic assessment of what America would have to do if two, three or more Viet Nam wars break out at the same time."

Stennis said the hard fact is that "a relatively small and undeveloped country such as North Viet Nam has been able to tie us down and require a very substantial commitment of our military manpower and resources over many months."

Rusk reacted to the committee's U.S. commitments worldwide ranging from treaties, such as the North Atlantic alliance, to executive agreements, military bases overseas, and less formally stated interests in the security of various areas abroad.

"I should like to emphasize," Rusk said, "that our defense commitments are fundamentally efforts to avoid any eventuality of armed conflict in which this country might become involved."

"These commitments do not increase the likelihood that we will have to fight."

"Rather, by making clear in advance our estimation of the requirements of national security, they reduce that likelihood."

He said Washington is not trying to set up "a pax Americana" — a U.S.-dominated peace — but is committed to joining others in strengthening world machinery for peace keeping.

Hampton Wins Case for School Consolidation

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Supreme Court set aside Thursday a Chancery Court ruling which prevented the Hampton School District from enrolling about 275 children who previously attended classes under the Calhoun County School District.

The 3-2 decision left in effect a Calhoun County Circuit Court order upholding the merger of the county district with the Hampton district. This order is being appealed to the state Supreme Court.

An attorney for the Hampton district said after the Thursday hearing that school officials will enroll the 275 children immediately, Hampton schools open Monday, he said.

Voters in the Calhoun County district approved consolidation last year.

Disarmament Conference Deadlocked

GENEVA (AP) — The deadlocked 17-nation disarmament conference went into recess today but agreed to meet again next year.

After calling the talks "fruitless" and "a waste of time" Soviet delegate Alexei A. Roshchin surprised the West by promptly agreeing to a resumption of the negotiations after the end of the next session of the United Nations General Assembly — probably in mid-January, 1967.

The final session ended with East and West blaming each other on the lack of progress during the seven-month session. But delegates from both sides stressed the importance of carrying on with the talks.

Engineers also said bids will be opened Oct. 6 on a job at Lock and Dam No. 2, about 12 miles northeast of Dumas.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Roger Miller, composer of "You Can't Roller Skate in a Buffalo Herd" and "My Uncle Used to Love Me But She Died," may very well be just what television has needed for a long time: A new variety star with style and personality all his own.

Miller, whose NBC half-hour show will be a candidate for public approval in the new season, is a tall, sleepy-eyed Texan with a Southwestern drawl that would make LBJ green with envy. He has built-in hatred of the cliché answer.

Ask him about his upcoming show, and instead of telling you about the great guys he's working with, he'll murmur something about it being "something like swimming — if you panic you drown."

"The Roger Miller Show" will be the only really novel excursion into variety on television in the season that starts in a couple of weeks. All in all, there will be 10 programs weekly on the three networks that fall into the variety category — and three of them, "The Ed Sullivan Show," "The Red Skelton Show," and "The Lawrence Welk Show" have been around almost as long as television itself.

There will also be two other new variety shows this season. Milton Berle is coming back on ABC in what he promises will be a revue. Garry Moore returns to CBS after a two-season absence.

Thus Miller will be the only real "new face" that TV talks about so much but uses so infrequently.

No one can tell now what kind of television personality Miller will show. It is a vast distance between being a guest star singing his own songs and acting as host to guest stars, making them look good — and singing other people's music.

And most of all, it is hard to tell how a show competing with "The Lucy Show" will make out, since Miss Ball's television road is marked by the graves of series that died for lack of audiences.

"There are some things that I just won't worry about," Miller reflected. "I always say 'Rome wasn't built in a day.'"

It is even hard to predict what his show will look like. Miller himself says the set will consist of "two trees and a picture of my uncle," and, for a change from turtle-neck sweaters and bright-colored slacks, he'll specialize in "hip boots and hairnets."

With a couple of exceptions like Jack Jones and Liberace, he said he'll try to find guests who aren't the eternal travelers on the variety circuit.

MR. AND MRS. DENNIS WAYNE GIBSON

Miss Brenda Sue Parris, daughter of Mrs. Lee Parris, and the late Mr. Parris of Hope and Dennis Wayne Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Claude Gibson of Jonesboro, were united in marriage Saturday, August 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the Unity Baptist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed beneath an arch of greenery and candles flanked on each side by candles entwined with greenery arranged along the choir rails.

Baskets of white gladiolus and a prele Dieu completed the setting. Rev. Merlin Cox, uncle of the bride, was the officiating minister, assisted by Rev. Bill Gibson of Jonesboro, brother of the groom.

Mrs. Jack Brown, pianist, furnished nuptial music and accompanied the soloist, Rev. Gordon Renshaw, who sang, "I Love You Truly," and "Whither Thou Goest."

Given in marriage by her brother, Joe Parris of Casa Grande, Arizona, the bride wore a dress of white peau de sole fashioned with a fitted lace bodice which had a scalloped neckline and long sleeves. The bell shaped skirt had a chapel train. A simulated rose trimmed with seed pearls and pointed petals, held the veil of tulle in place. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls, a gift of the groom. The bride carried a purple throat orchid encircled with fleur d'amour.

Mrs. Jerry Swope, cousin of the bride, was her matron of honor. She wore orchid dæron designed with a boat neck and fitted bodice which had a bow at the waistline. On her head she wore an orchid simulated rose, trimmed with seed pearls and a small veil of tulle. She carried a single long stemmed rose.

The bridesmaids, who were dressed identically to the honor attendant, were Janell Gibson of Jonesboro, sister of the groom and Gwen Palmer. The candle lighters were Judy Owen and Mrs. Paul Jackson. They, too, wore dresses identical to the honor attendant.

Little Vanessa Murrell of Jonesboro, cousin of the groom, was flower girl and Master Bill Gibson, nephew of the groom was ring bearer. Miss Claudia Johnson of Searcy was in charge of the bride's book.

Mr. Gibson served his son as best man. Groomsman were Jimmy Thompson and Tommy Parris, brother of the bride. Ushers were Jerry Swope of Conway, and Stan Parris.

For her daughters wedding, Mrs. Parris wore a blue silk linen suit with matching accessories, while Mrs. Gibson wore a pink lace dress with matching accessories. Each wore an orchid corsage.

After the wedding, a reception was held in the fellowship room of the church. Assisting in serving was Mrs. Joe Parris of Casa Grande, Ariz., Kathryn Stacy of Quintman, and Duwana Cox.

For a wedding trip to Hot Springs the bride wore an aqua two piece linen dress with black accessories and pinned the orchid from her bouquet at her shoulder.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson will make their home in Jonesboro where Mr. Gibson will be a sophomore in Arkansas State College this fall.

School Bells Ringing on Cash Registers for the Nation's Merchants

NEW YORK (AP) — School bells are ringing bells on cash registers for the nation's merchants.

The back-to-school crowd pays more than $3 billion each year for Batman lunch boxes, Beatles writing tablets, plum hipriper skirts, the longest dipping all the way down to the top of the knee; white texture hose, long dazzling earrings, honey-hued corduroy jeans, red tights, plaid school bags and fake fur hussocks.

It's the biggest thing next to Christmas for the stores.

Take a look at a few school girl figures:

Eugene Gilbert Youth Research, in a study for Seventeen magazine, sampled 5.8 million high school girls last year and another 618,000 who were off for their first year of college.

The college girls spent a total of $289,277,000, an average of $468.07 each, the survey indicated. The high school girls averaged $231.17 each, a total of $1,340,822,000 getting ready for school.

The survey estimated the girls bought more than 33 million pairs of shoes, sneakers, sandals, slippers and boots, 27.5 million blouses, 22 million skirts, 13 million dresses and 8 million coats.

The Boys' Apparel Buyers' Association, Inc., estimates boys 6 to 18 spend $510 million to $575 million each August and September on clothing.

This year indications are the figures will be even larger — there are more teen-agers and some prices are higher.

That is why discount stores and fashion houses are sending out back-to-school catalogs, putting kooky clothes in display windows and spending thousands of dollars on fashion shows.

"It's a time of major expenditure," said Melvin E. Dawley, president of Lord & Taylor, New York.

Dawley estimated that the back-to-school and Christmas sales combined accounted for half of the year's business in children's departments, with Christmas sales about 25 per cent larger.

Democrats Are Trying to Regroup

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Jim Johnson, Democratic candidate for governor, said Thursday that his request for help from County Democratic committees has shown that there is no friction in the ranks.

Response from the committees has been overwhelming, he said.

Johnson was asked at a news conference to comment on a statement Monday by Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett, in which Bennett said Johnson should issue a "clarion call to all Democrats, whether office holders or otherwise," to actively campaign for Johnson.

Failure to do so, Bennett said, would result in a Republican victory by default.

Johnson had said previously that he did not want "the big politicians in his campaign."

Johnson said he had not yet talked with Gov. Orval Faubus about the campaign, but said, "I expect to talk to him."

"I have been apologizing by telephone to some of the backers of candidates for beating their candidates," he said, and "saying we wanted and needed their help."

"There is no situation that would justify the Bennett statement," Johnson said.

Since his nomination, he has been invited to speak at "what seems like 1,000 places in Arkansas and nationally," Johnson said.

He said he had not accepted any speaking engagements because "I think it's a part of wisdom not to accept these right now."

"About half of the people of Arkansas did not want Jim Johnson for their nominee," he said. "They need time to reconsider the fact that I am their nominee."

He said he would accept some speaking invitation in the future, and that his wife, Virginia, would make some more appearances.

YOUTH ASKED FOR IT!

This column is for young people their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to Helen Help US!, this newspaper.

WHEN MATE IS A BLABBERMOUTH

Dear Helen: Our daughter is married to former neighbor, and his family still lives within phoning distance — everyday phoning, that is.

Evidently the son lets his mother know many little details about their private lives. She calls me up and tells me the wildest things — and I'm sure she exaggerates, as my daughter, even when she visits us, gives no inkling that this is happening. They live in another state.

The trouble is, his mother can not keep her mouth shut. It's most embarrassing at a club meeting to hear her tell of the latest spat our kids had, or the exact description of how they are planning their family and when.

Of course she makes it sound as if our daughter is always a little stupid. She doesn't know this is going on, and truthfully I think the mother-in-law manufactures as much as she hears.

How can I put an end to these stories? — D. M.

Dear D: Why not send the young marrieds a fact sheet itemizing what has been repeated about them. Mention no names and do no editorializing. I think the blabbermouth will get the message, and shut off Mama's source of supply. — H.

CLUBS FOR LONELY PEOPLE

Dear Helen: This is to the woman who suggested "Lonely People Anonymous." There are such clubs in many cities. I work for one and they are wonderful. No matchmaking or anything like that, just a group of people who are lonely and want someone to sit and talk with. We also have free dance lessons, parties and outings a couple of times a week. These clubs are easy to organize, cooperatively.

The trouble is that most people seem to think they are merely dance studios where they must spend hundreds of dollars to join. Our membership is less than $2.00 a week, and we're an all-around club for the lonely single persons in our town. — Receptionist, Newark, New Jersey

Dear Helen: I am 70 years old. I never went beyond the seventh grade. Truancy: I was kicked out. But through the years I have made adjustments to life. I am alone, but I am not lonely. My friends are in the public library.

About these "lonely people's clubs" — frankly I run when some aging old bore comes my way. I can't stand trivia, repetitions of past glories or defeats. I have no use for the person who sits down and waits for death. I've tried circulating in my age group. It's no go.

Me, I am just beginning to live. The days are not long enough for me to accomplish the things I want to do. I welcome the kids that come to visit me. Although I've had no formal education, I derive a vicarious pleasure in graduating every time each of them graduates from school. You see, English, and other subjects, through my love affair with the public library, I help young people with their studies. I admire them for their honest rebellion against the world we old buzzards are leaving them.

Alas, there are millions of college students, but few scholars. All the same, they keep me young.

Fortunately, my older friends and I live many miles apart. We write. Perhaps we see each other every few years. That's enough! Imagine living the last remaining years with some old crab, female or otherwise, who has nothing to say! Hell, that would be worse than penial servitude! Intellectually, I want to live in peaceful solitude. Down with "Lonely People Anonymous"! — S.S.

Dear S.S.: Skoal! You'll never get old! — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen Help US!. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Battel in care of Hope Star.

Newcomer in Lead at Philadelphia

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
WHITEMARSH, Pa. (AP) — Tom Weiskopf may not realize it, but he could be a prophet as well as one of the pro golf tour's most promising young newcomers.

After shooting a six-under-par 66 to take a two-stroke first-round lead in the $110,000 Philadelphia Golf Classic Thursday, Weiskopf said:

"I'm pleased with the 66, but leading after the first round is a long way from winning. There are three rounds to go."

In the previous three years of this tournament at Whitemarsh Valley County Club, the first round leader had fallen by the wayside by the time the 72-hole test was over.

Mason Rudolph led with a 67, but Arnold Palmer won in 1963. Four tied for the opening lead in 1964, none of them Jack Nicklaus the eventual champion.

Last year when Nicklaus won again, R. H. Sikes was the first-round leader with a 64.

No wonder the 23-year-old Weiskopf tempered his exuberance over topping the field after 18 holes.

"This is the first time I've ever led a tournament after the first round, and I'm not sure how I feel about it," said the 23-year-old golfer who joined the tour four years ago after two years at Ohio State University.

Seeing the 6-foot-3 inch Weiskopf at the top was no surprise to veterans on the weekly golf safari. Palmer is on record as naming the blond better as the rookie most likely to succeed.

Two strokes behind Weiskopf came Bob Goaty and Dan Sikes, each with 68. Veteran Julius Boros led a contingent of seven at 69, including Roger Maltbie, Jay Hebert, Butch Baird, John Cook, Don January and M. C. Fitts. At 70 were Bob Charles, Tommy Jacobs, Terry Dill and Bill Martinale.

Palmer, who said his bursitis ridden shoulder bothered him only in late stages, scored a 71, while Nicklaus, U.S. Open champion Billy Casper and PGA champion Al Geiberger had 72s.

Buckpasser Challengers Are Featured

By ORGO ROBERTSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
Tom Rolfe, 3-year-old champion last year; Great Power, who hopes to be the 2-year-old king this year, and a half-dozen challengers to millionaire Buckpasser will furnish the chief attractions on Saturday's racing program.

Tom Rolfe, winner in two of three starts this year and returning to the scene of four rich 1965 triumphs, heads the field in the one-mile $100,000-added Washington Park Handicap at Arlington Park.

Great Power, winner of five of his seven starts including the last four, takes on a small field in the 8 1/2-furlong $75,000-added Hopeful at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., with a victory meaning a record-shattering 31 stakes wins for trainer Eddie Neely.

Exhibitionist and several other top 3-year-olds go in the 1 1/16-mile $20,000-added Rainbow Handicap at Rockingham Park—the final test before taking on Buckpasser in the $250,000-added New Hampshire Sweepstakes next Saturday.

Tom Rolfe, who equaled Arlington Park's record of 1:21 for seven furlongs in his last start, will carry topweight of 128 pounds in his first major bid for the handicap division crown.

The probable field of eight also will include the stretch-running Bold Bidder, packing 120 pounds, and Tornado, 117.

Not more than four are expected to oppose Great Power in the Hopeful and one will be stablemate Disciplinary. Favorable Turn, Bathazas and Bold Hour are the other likely starters.

Nine were named for the Rainbow. Seven of them are eligible for the 1 1/8-mile Sweepstakes, the world's richest race for 3-year-olds, but only five are likely to take on Buckpasser, who boosted his earnings to $1,038,369 in winning last Saturday's Travers.

McLain Gives Tigers Some New Hope

By RON RAPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
The next time Lou Boudreau brings out his movie projector and subjects son-in-law Denny McLain to films of the 1948 playoff game for the pennant between Cleveland and Boston, the young Detroit hurler can produce a few reels of his own and demand equal time.

There are a couple of one-hitters McLain pitched in May and a pair of two-hitters, also from earlier in the season, but the Academy Award winner is Thursday's two-hit performance, complete with happy ending, an 8-0 Tiger victory over Chicago.

McLain's previous low-hit performances came when he was the toast of the league, the winningest pitcher around. At the All-Star break, he was 13-4. But then he began taking his lumps.

It took Denny five tries to win his 14th and five more before he got number 15 Thursday. The fact that it came on such a sharp performance has to give McLain and the Tigers hope that he's ready to resume his leading-man role.

Boudreau, on the other hand, may find that his hours behind his projector are going to increase. As McLain explains it, whenever he and his wife, Sharyn, who is Boudreau's daughter, visit the former Indian shortstop, he finds himself watching Lou win the pennant for Cleveland with his brilliant play.

"If I've seen that film once," said McLain, "I've seen it a thousand times. I'm just glad I didn't have to pitch to that man. Boy, was he tough."

The Chicago batters were anything but tough Wednesday, though. Only Ken Berry, with a double in the fourth, and Jerry Adair, who beat out a single in the eighth, managed hits. The Tigers, though, started hitting early. They got three runs in the first inning, two in the second and, to round things out, three more on a Dick McAuliffe homer in the fifth.

In other American League games, California beat New York, 5-1. Baltimore took Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings and Boston won a doubleheader from Kansas City, 8-6 and 4-1.

In a brief National League schedule, Chicago beat New York 3-2 and Philadelphia beat Pittsburgh 4-1.

McLain, who struck out nine Thursday, is now 15-11 for the season. He walked just two batters and pitched his 10th complete game.

Jim Fregosi and Jay Johnstone knocked in a pair of runs behind George Brunet's six-hit performance for the Angels. It was Brunet's 12th triumph of the season. Mel Stottlemyre, 11-15, was the loser.

Paul Blair's single in the 11th drove in the winning run after a throwing error by Cleveland reliever Luis Tiant had allowed runners to second and third. The Orioles tied the game in the bottom of the ninth when Curt Blefary hit his 18th homer off reliever Dick Radatz. Stu Miller threw four innings of impeccable relief for the Birds.

Joe Foy hit a two-run homer in the bottom of the ninth in the first game and Hank Fischer, former National Leaguer, went all the way in the nightcap in the Red Sox' double victory.

Foy's homer came with two out off reliever Ken Sanders. Tony Conigliaro hit a two-run homer in the nightcap as Fischer allowed just eight hits in his first start with the Red Sox.

Americans Eliminated by Mexicans

BROOKLINE, Mass. (AP)—Two short sticks of Mexican dynamite exploded on the grass of Longwood Cricket Club Thursday and killed the chances of one of the top-seeded teams of winning the U.S. National Doubles tennis title.

Joquin Loyo-Mayo, who is 5-foot-4, and Marcela Lara, only about an inch taller, cut down the rugged Manuel Santana of Spain and Luis Garcia of Mexico 10-12, 24-22, 11-9, 3-6, 6-2.

The Mexican team volleyed with speed, power and precision to win what Longwood officials believe was the longest match in the history of the tournament. The 105 games took 2 hours and 12 minutes to play.

Brown Could Dominate Doubleheader

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns and ex-Browns may dominate the playing field in numbers for tonight's pro football doubleheader here, but the Browns are being billed as underdogs in the fifth annual tilt.

Part of the lack of confidence in the Browns is the retirement of fullback Jim Brown and need for reshaping of the team's backfield. Another big question is the throwing arm of quarterback Frank Ryan.

Ryan has had his sore right elbow treated all week. He reported some improvement Thursday during the final work-out before the Browns closed their Hiram, Ohio, training camp.

Coach Blanton Collier said he is counting on Ryan to start against the Baltimore Colts, but believes that Jim Ninoski, No. 2 quarterback, will pilot the club most of the game.

Otto Graham, former Browns quarterback and now coach of the Washington Redskins, takes his battered team to the field tonight against the Minnesota Vikings in the first game at 6:30 p.m. (EDT).

The doubleheader is a sellout, and those willing to pay for standing room may push the crowd to 85,000.

Baltimore, coached by ex-Brown Don Shula, has scored 99 points in winning its three exhibition games this year over Washington, Philadelphia and St. Louis. Shula's aides include John Sandusky and Chuck Noll who played for the Browns in the 1950s.

Helping Coach Norm Van Brocklin mastermind the Vikings will be Lew Carpenter, who was with the Browns in the late '50s. Minnesota is undefeated in its last 14 exhibition games.

Ernie Green and Leroy Kelly have been taking on the bulk of the ball carrying chores since the retirement of Brown, and, according to the Browns' line men, the line and the new backfield are beginning to "communicate."

In the NFL Saturday, New York plays Philadelphia at Princeton, N.J., in the afternoon and Pittsburgh is at Green Bay, St. Louis is at Los Angeles, Atlanta meets San Francisco at Columbia, S.C., and Dallas plays Detroit at Tulsa, Okla., at night.

Houston plays at Kansas City, Boston is at San Diego and New York takes on Buffalo at Allentown, Pa., Saturday night and Oakland is at Denver Sunday in American League exhibitions.

Rebels Likely to Have a Better Team

By ED SHEARER
Associated Press Writer
FORT SMITH, Ark. (AP) — Coach Charles McGibbony concedes that his Fort Smith Southside Rebels will be better than last year's team.

But he chuckles upon learning that every other coach in the Class AAA Western Division has labeled his team to beat.

"I haven't seen that trophy yet," McGibbony says, "and I don't expect those others to give it to us without a fight."

McGibbony says, "I think we'll be an average Triple A club this year, which is 50 per cent better than we were last year."

The Rebels have 19 lettermen returning, including 11 seniors who have started for two seasons.

Jackie Brandt Is Phil's One Man Show

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
When the Philadelphia Phillies talk about flukes, they don't mean the breakfast variety. Jackie Brandt, Philadelphia's journeyman outfielder, is the Phillies' own personal one-man show. He was one man too many for the Pittsburgh Pirates Thursday night.

Brandt drove in two runs with a single and double as the Phillies downed Pittsburgh 4-1 behind Jim Bunning's eight-hitter. The defeat dropped the Pirates into second place in the National League, one-half game behind the idle San Francisco Giants.

In baseball parlance, a fluke is an off-beat player who is somewhat eccentric. Brandt fills the bill perfectly.

Take the ice cream incident in spring training, for example. Brandt and a teammate decided they'd like a snack after dinner. "Okay," said the teammate, "there's an ice cream place down the block."

"No, no," insisted Brandt. "I want to go to that 28-flavor place."

That was fine with Brandt's teammate except that the 28-flavor spot was 30 miles away. But Brandt won the argument and the teammates took the ride.

When they reached their destination, the other player ordered something scrumptious — the kind of treat you'd find in a 28-flavor spot.

And Brandt? "I'll take vanilla," he deadpanned.

Now that's a fluke. The Pirates didn't think he was very funny though. His fourth-inning double brought Dick Groat home with Philadelphia's second run of the inning. Johnny Callison had singled and scored on Groat's double.

In the sixth, Richie Allen singled, moved up on a sacrifice, and rode home on Brandt's second hit of the night.

In the only other National League game played Thursday, Chicago nipped New York 3-2, 6. In the American League, California defeated New York 5-1. Detroit blanked Chicago 8-0. Baltimore nipped Cleveland 4-3 in 11 innings and Boston swept a doubleheader from Kansas City 8-6 and 4-1.

The Cubs beat the Mets in the ninth inning for the second straight day when Don Kessinger scored the winning run off rookie Bill Hepler's wild pitch.

Old Washington, in Hempstead, Is Cradle of Arkansas History

By MAX LOVE, Travel Writer
Arkansas Publicity and Parks Commission

Old Washington, nine miles northwest of Hope in Hempstead County, stands as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar in the preservation of the rich and exciting history of early Arkansas. In recent years, through the efforts of her local citizens and through the generosity of other individuals and groups throughout the state, many of the more historically important buildings in this "Cradle of Arkansas History" have been completely rebuilt or restored to their former glory.

Old Washington was born in a hectic - and exciting - period of early American history, and unlike many another Arkansas frontier community which sprung up in the wilderness, flourished for a decade or two and then disappeared from the landscape, it has withstood the ravages of time and the call to urban living.

Shortly after the Louisiana Purchase - 1803 - adventurous pioneers, seeking new homelands in this newly acquired territory started pouring into the rich wilderness of what today is Hempstead County in southwest Arkansas.

By 1824, Washington was a well established town, boasting a new log court house, a large tavern with more than a dozen rooms to accommodate the many travelers that passed through on their way westward, churches, a blacksmith shop, numerous fine homes and other buildings.

In 1839, a young man from Pennsylvania, Wm. H. Etter, established a newspaper, the Washington Telegraph, and the first issue rolled off the hand-operated press in the fall of that same year. Known as the oldest weekly newspaper west of the Mississippi, the Telegraph published continuously until 1937. (Although the Arkansas Gazette, which was founded in 1819 at Arkansas Post, is the oldest newspaper in continuous publication west of the Mississippi, the Telegraph was the only paper in the state that was published regularly during the period of the Civil War.)

Though all of the restored buildings at Washington played important roles in early Arkansas history, the newspaper, the Old Tavern, the court house, the blacksmith shop, along with the old military roads of the area, are among the best known landmarks in the state.

The Old Tavern also served as a stagecoach station. More than once David Crockett was a guest there. Colonel James Bowie dominated there while James Black, a silversmith and a blacksmith, made for him the original "Bowie Knife". Stephen Austin, the father of Texas, and his brother-in-law, James Bryan, stayed there. And here, too, Sam Houston shut himself in while he formulated his plans to wrest Texas from Mexico.

Legend has it that the dapper young Col. Bowie came up to Washington from his south Louisiana home at Opelousas to test the forecast now is for short crops of corn, peas green and wax beans and cherries, with higher prices, both now for the fresh varieties and later when the canned and frozen ones move to market.

There is, however, a big pear crop.

Meat prices this weekend are mixed across the country. Choice beef ribs are down in the Pacific Northwest, but up about 1 cent a pound in California. Veal is down 3 cents in Portland, Ore., but up 1 cent in San Francisco.

Pork is down in the Midwest, but up on the West Coast.

Turkey is being featured in many areas, reflecting the larger supplies.

The "hand" used in measuring a horse's height is equal to four inches.

Finally Found Owner of Dog

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - When Jim Stockton found a lost dog he decided to find its owner. Reading an inoculation tag on the dog's collar, he called a veterinarian in Los Angeles. The vet told Stockton the dog's owner had moved to Bethpage, N.Y. When he called there, Stockton was told the owners "Cradle of Arkansas History" had moved to Plainville, N.Y. He called Plainville but the owner, J. F. Brennan, had moved again.

This time Stockton found him - just two blocks from his home here.

Alaska is about 2 1/2 times the size of Texas.

Report from Space

Man's venture into space is still less than a decade old, yet already it is yielding results of practical use in his everyday life. One is a vastly more precise system of weather forecasting employing satellites 750 miles above the earth. Television-type cameras photograph the entire earth every 24 hours. The satellites' signals are picked up by ground stations. Photos of cloud formations and statistical weather data are flashed across a special weather communications network, enabling meteorologists to plot movement of weather fronts precisely and forecast storms days in advance.

A technician at Gilmore Creek, Alaska, ground station positions an antenna to pick up signals from a satellite. The antenna follows the satellite automatically until it passes beyond the horizon.

At the National Environmental Satellite Center, Suitland, Md., a technician assembles individual pictures from satellites into a photomosaic weather map.

The push of a button on the Gilmore Creek control board starts satellite's transmission of photos taken by its cameras and stored on tape.

Arthur Johnson, National Environmental Satellite Center director, examines a photomosaic map showing weather conditions around the entire world.

THE KREMLIN HAS A PARKING PROBLEM all its own. Like other tourist Meccas the world over, Moscow draws hordes of visitors during the summer months. This area of Red Square near the Kremlin wall and Spassky Tower, left, is jammed with buses bringing Soviet citizens and foreign tour groups to town to see the sights. St. Basil's Cathedral is at right.

UNIQUE POWER PLANT high on a Wyoming mountain, this nuclear installation is getting its first refueling in almost four years. Located at Sundance, Wyo., it is the Air Force's only nuclear plant and provides power for radar equipment in the Air Defense Command's electronic warning and air defense services for the northern hemisphere. It has generated more than 16 million kilowatt-hours of electrical power from an initial fuel load of some 57 pounds of uranium 235 since it went into operation in October, 1962. Refueled, it will continue operating until 1971.

BATTLEFIELD RADAR, said to be the smallest yet developed, directs the fire of a grenade launcher in this demonstration scene. Operating off a hip-strapped power unit, the two-pound unit mounted on a weapon locates moving objects and distinguishes between targets such as running men, jeeps, trucks and tanks.

THE SHAPE OF SUBS TO COME could be something like the artist's sketch at top if current experimentation with glass for deep diving is successful. A 56-inch diameter glass sphere would be mounted on a maneuvering sled consisting of two 16-foot glass fiber pontoons housing power supply and propulsion systems. Bottom, a technician checks a glass hemisphere used in test dives at the U.S. Naval Ordnance Test Station, China Lake, Calif.

For Crying Out Loud!

The first feminine secretary in this country got her job by bursting into tears, a device that has not disappeared from the female's office equipment in the 89 years since. In 1877, we are told by an official of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., office clerical help was exclusively male. This sort of thing goes back as far as Alexander the Great, who had secretary-soldiers chipping his deeds into stone tablets at night, then fighting to create more history during their daytime chores.

But a female walked into a New York office in 1877 and applied for a job as a "typewriter," which was what typists were called in those days. The employer yelled. She cried. He hired her, and offices have never been the same since.

By 1902 there were 150,000 female secretaries. Then came World War I and the women took over. Said one executive, male of course: "We won one war and lost another. This was the greatest ambush of the male in history."

But the battle of the sexes isn't over, officewise or otherwise. The 3-M official who specializes in making machines to ease the life of the working girl sees a great future for her. He predicts that the secretary of the future will have to work only four hours a day, get twice as much salary as today and enjoy six weeks of vacation each year.

Meanwhile, back at the office, the boss will be working overtime hunting the stuff she mislaid. And it will be the male who cries out loud this time—fully aware, of course, that she is indispensable and always will be, even in a world of whirling computers.—Dallas (Tex.) Morning News.

Radio-TV, Too...

"Figures can be deceiving," said the Morning News staffer after his story on the Chatham County-Savannah crime rate was published Thursday morning. He was right. The story said the crime rate had increased 26 per cent during 1965. The fact is, there was a nine per cent decrease. We admitted the error and published the correct figures the following day.

But that's not the end of the story. A curious thing happened after the edition carrying the incorrect figures was in the hands of our readers. Members of the electronic media in Savannah were broadcasting the same incorrect figures. A coincidence?

Not really, when you consider the number of times that we have heard staff—prepared local stories printed in the Morning News come drifting across the airwaves. We really don't mind you using the Morning News to prepare your broadcasts, fellas. But we think you should at least make your own errors.—Savannah (Ga.) Morning News.

Lions to Hear From Beneficiary

Alton B. Goodrum, field representative of the Arkansas Enterprises for the Blind, will speak before the Hope Lions Club at 12 noon on August 29. Goodrum will discuss his own experiences as a trainee at the Rehabilitation Center and tell about the total program which has served more than 1,000 trainees from 30 states.

Goodrum, became totally blind after completing high school at Nashville, Arkansas. Through the cooperation of the Nashville Lions Club and the Arkansas Rehabilitation Service, he was referred to the AEB Center. Following this six months there, he entered Henderson State Teachers College at Arkadelphia where he became president of the freshman and sophomore classes.

After receiving his degree, Goodrum did graduate work at the University of Arkansas and Southern Illinois University. He also took special professional training at New York City and joined the AEB staff in 1957. He is married and has two sons. He is active in the Methodist Church and is a charter member of the Park Plaza Lions Club.

Must Lessen War Chance, Johnson Says

By KARL R. BAUMAN
ARCO, Idaho (AP) — President Johnson said today the United States and the Soviet Union face the common task of searching for every possible area of agreement to lessen the chances of a nuclear war.

Johnson said that a full-scale nuclear exchange between the East and the West, whether caused "by design or by chance," would kill almost 300 million people.

He said U.S. objectives in Viet Nam do not threaten the vital interests of the Soviet Union or the territory of any of her allies and that the Soviets have a very large stake in the peace and security of Southeast Asia.

Johnson's speech was prepared for his visit to the national reactor testing station here as he moved into the second consecutive weekend of personal appearances. He visited five Northeastern states last weekend.

Later today he was scheduled to speak in Denver, Colo., and Pryor, Okla., in what the White House described as a nonpolitical trip.

At Arco, the President said progress in peaceful uses of atomic energy has "merely raised the curtain on a promising drama in a long journey to a better life."

"But there is another — and darker — side of the nuclear age that we cannot forget," he added.

"This is the danger of destruction by nuclear weapons. True, these weapons have deterred war."

"True, they have helped to check the spread of Communist expansion in much of the world."

"True, they have permitted our friends to rebuild our nations in freedom."

"But uneasy is the peace that wears a nuclear crown. And we cannot be satisfied with a situation in which the world is capable of extinction in a moment of error, or madness, or anger."

After saying almost 300 million people would perish in a full-scale nuclear exchange, Johnson added:

"This is why we have always been required to show restraint as well as resolve; to be firm but not to walk heavy-footed along the brink of war."

ARKADELPHIA (AP) — A tractor-trailer truck loaded with ammunition hit a bridge railing on U. S. 67 south near Curtis today, injuring two men.

State Trooper Earl Orr said the driver, 39-year-old Clyde Thurman Jr. of Texarkana, and the relief driver, Travis Vernon White, 45, also of Texarkana, were taken to the Clark County Memorial Hospital at Arkadelphia.

Orr said Thurman received a broken shoulder, broken pelvis, broken ankle and head cuts. White, who was in the sleeper section of the truck cab, escaped with minor injuries.

Orr said Thurman told him another tractor-trailer truck crowded him into the bridge railing. The ammunition truck was en route from Marshall, Tex. to Fort Benning, Ga., with a load of .81 mm mortar shells.

DeGaulle Is Greeted by Angry Mobs

By DENNIS NEEDLE
DJBOUTI, French Somaliland (AP) — French police today hurled tear-gas grenades into a mob shouting for independence as President Charles de Gaulle toured the city.

Pro- and anti-French factions among the African residents of this steaming Red Sea port exchanged volleys of rocks and broken bottles.

Troop reinforcements in steel helmets, and holding their guns at the ready, rushed up in a score of personnel carriers to form a line across one side of the Place Rimbeau, main square of the city.

Djbouti was like a city under siege. The crowd shouted abuse at soldiers and police. Security forces held steady. Neither side advanced or retreated.

Hundreds of troops were at action stations throughout the city. Streets were still littered with rocks and broken glass from the storm's onslaught.

Active Duty Studied for Reserves

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Armed Services Committee is considering legislation that would authorize President Johnson to call to active duty an estimated 60,000 Reservists and National Guardsmen not now attached to units, it was learned today.

Sources said the committee is expected to vote early next week on the proposal—described as the House's answer to a Senate amendment that would have given the President power to call up individual Reservists and Guardsmen with less than 24 months active duty.

The President had not asked for such authority.

The House rejected the Senate proposal—tied to the massive $58-billion defense money bill—by a vote of 378 to 3 Thursday. Members then voted 381 to 1 for the appropriation bill and sent it back to the Senate.

Members and staff of the Armed Services Committee sharply criticized the Senate proposal today in a series of interviews, describing it as poorly thought out, hastily conceived and sloppily written.

"The Senate amendment was not thought out well and it will have grave repercussions," committee chairman L. Mendel Rivers, D-S.C., said.

"Our committee is dealing with the subject and is going to put out a bill," he added. "We don't like the (Senate) Appropriations Committee bargaining in."

5 Killed, 2 Wounded by a Man Estranged From His Girl Friend

Guards Get Orders to Shoot to Kill

By THOMAS STEWART
NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Five persons were killed and two wounded early today when, police said, a man whose girl friend had left him entered her mother's home with a rifle and began firing.

After leaving dead and dying in nearly every room of the six-room apartment of Mary McCleave, the man walked out and drove off.

Hours later, state police in Newark, N.J., reported the arrest of a man believed to be Arthur Davis, 37, of New Haven — the man for whom a multistate alarm had been issued in connection with the slayings.

A woman, who had watched from her window as the killer left the apartment, said he wore a cowboy hat and seemed in no hurry to get away.

"He just walked along, swinging that gun with one hand," said Mary Menchaca.

Moments later, she said, a boy who had survived the blood-bath ran from the apartment screaming "Somebody please help me! Please help me! They're all dead!"

The shootings occurred in a city-run housing project in the Negro section of New Haven. All of those involved were Negroes, police said.

Besides Mrs. McCleave, 51, those slain were all friends of her family: Neil White, 55, of Dover, N.C.; Richard Leathers, 27, of New Haven; and Caroline Sykes, 24, and her son, Michael, 5, also of New Haven.

One of Mrs. McCleave's daughters, Francine, 14, suffered a stomach wound and was reported in critical condition.

Troy Sykes, 4, son of Mrs. Sykes, was wounded in the chin but was reported in satisfactory condition.

Maj. Gen. Francis Kane said Thursday night after a meeting with law officers that about 3,000 Guardsmen will be mobilized to prevent outbreaks during the Sunday demonstration in Cicero, an all-white community of 70,000 persons.

Kane said his men will be fully armed.

He said his men will be ordered, "If fired upon, fire back, and shoot to kill."

Napalm Error Kills Seven Americans

By ROBERT TUCKMAN
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Air Force Super Sabre jet fighters dropped fiery napalm by error today on soldiers of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division fighting a savage jungle battle against 500 Viet Cong only 20 miles north of Saigon.

The accidental strike took a heavy toll of infantrymen. Some reports said seven Americans were killed and more than 20 wounded.

Maj. Gen. William E. De Puy, division commander, flew to Saigon to give newsmen an account of the bombing.

De Puy absolved the Air Force of blame for what he called "this unfortunate napalming of our own troops."

He said the infantrymen called in air strikes "very close" to their own positions, but "we did not ask for napalm on our own troops."

De Puy said, "It was a rough battle in which we killed more of them than they killed of us, but not as many as we would have liked to have killed."

"As of now, we have 53 VC (Viet Cong) dead."

De Puy said the enemy toll would mount as his men pushed through the jungle area and found bodies of Viet Cong killed by repeated air assaults and artillery barrages.

De Puy said the napalm was dropped only five minutes after a fight between men of the division — the Big Red One — and elements of the crack Viet Cong battalion.

It occurred north of Lai Khe near north-south Highway 16 where three battalions of the division pursued the Communists who had engaged the American infantrymen in a bloody fight through the day Thursday.

The enemy unit was identified as the "Phu Loi Battalion," reputed to be one of the toughest Viet Cong outfits in the field.

Severe losses were reported on both sides as a result of the fighting but no official figures were disclosed. At one point on the battlefield, 45 Viet Cong bodies were counted. Lt. Col. George M. Wallace, of Charlottesville, Va., commander of one of the battalions involved, said the Communists had been severely punished.

Among the American dead were a battalion commander and two company commanders.

The U.S. forces were backed up by artillery and heavy tanks in addition to air power.

The heavy fighting tapered off at nightfall, but the Americans pressed a search for the enemy today.
